Messenger Bureau.

Raleigh, N. C., November 9.

Inspector General B. S. Royster was here today on his way to Wilmington to inspect the infantry company and naval reserves. Thursday evening he will inspect the new naval division at New Bern. There are now four divisions with a total strength of 200 officers and men. There is a full battalion. There are thirty companies of infantry, which is the number allowed by law. The only one admitted during the past twelve months is at Waughton in Forsyth county and George E. Nisson is its captain. Major Hayes, U. S. A. and Colonel Harrell will go to New Bern to see the naval reserves inspected.

Among today's arrivals are H. McD. Robinson of Fayetteville, J. A. Lockhart and L. D. Robinson of Wadesboro, Frank McNeil of Wilmington, W. F. French and T. A. McNeil of Lumberton, Walter H. Neal of Laurinburg, John P. Cannon of Rockingham, and H. L. Grant of Goldsboro.

State Treasurer Worth appeals to the supreme court from Judge Robinson's decision in the mandamus proceedings, that he must pay the auditor's warrant in the Carteret oyster case.

There is naturally great interest in the meeting of the democratic state committee, which is to be held here November 20th. It will be the first meeting since last winter. The political campaign will begin early; in fact it has now in a measure begun.

Chairman Wilson, of the railway commission, desired a jury trial in the case of L. C. Caldwell against him at Statesville yesterday in the case involving title, but failed to get it, just as Otho Wilson did here.

There are now 430 patients in the insane asylum here. The percentage of cures to admission is as large as ever in the history of the asylum. Much progress in all lines is being made. The grounds were never so attractive. They are being reseeded in grass. A new boiler stack 100 feet high, was finished yesterday. This year 20,000 barrels of pork will be put up, or four-fifths of all required for twelve months. The farm and garden have yielded heavily. A very large crop of oats is sown.

In the superior court here this week there will come up on demurrer two interesting cases—that of the state against Stewart Brothers, ex-public printers, for $20,000 overpaid, and that of A. L. Swinson, the expelled enrolling clerk of the last legislature, for his salary for the full sixty days of the session.

Four convicts arrived from Northampton today, one to serve fifteen years having submitted to burglary in the second degree. He narrowly missed the gallows.

Revenue officers made a raid last night near Clayton and captured a large illicit distillery. The officers say that in few parts of this district are the people in sympathy with the moonshiners. Sometimes they are afraid of them.

Otho Wilson calls for a populist leader in North Carolina and a wit replies that Governor Russell will fill the bill. As yet the frost in this section amounts to nothing, and cotton continues to bloom.

Boss Croker of New York is now at Asheville for his health and will remain a month.

Professor Tiernan, who some years ago married Miss Fisher of Salisbury (Christian Reid) the writer, is dangerously ill at Salisbury.

Rev. Mr. Lee, the "Irish evangelist," raised a stir here last night by attacking John Nichols, secretary of the state fair, the aldermen and the grocers who sell liquor. He called each by name. Today Nichols said: "I care nothing for the utterances of a tramp preacher."

Governor Russell's exceptions to special Master Kerr Craig's ruling in the North Carolina railway lease hearings will be heard at Richmond November 11th, there being a postponement.

Senator Daniel declares he will come over from Virginia and help the North Carolina democrats in the next campaign. Interest in gold mining increases. Mr. Bliss of Norfolk, is opening the Reiner mine in Rowan county.

H. L. Grant said today: "I think Senator Butler no longer controls his party in this state. He is on the down grade and is 'scotching.' I understand he has named his baby after Governor Russell."

For many years the government and also this state have desired to obtain a portrait of Nathaniel Macon. It is now learned that the long effort seems to be at last successful. Macon persistently refused to allow his portrait to be painted.

The penitentiary authorities say that the large quantities of whiskey they have purchased are for the convicts at work on the Roanoke farms. Those are given whiskey and quinine as a daily ration. It is mixed for them in great quantities, prison officials say, and they add that if this were not done half would be able to work. Chairman Dockery, of the penitentiary board, says that last week out of 700 on the roll only about 400 were able to pick cotton.

Monazite mining in this state appears to have ceased. The Brazilian monazite, brought in as ballast, has been knocked out of the market. But Senator Pritchard expects the duty of 6 cents per pound, which he secured, to make the mining of it again very profitable.

Evangelist Lee has begun a meeting at the Third Baptist church here and is going for the saloon keepers in lively fashion. He says he proposes to show up this town.

Colonel W. H. S. Burgwyn is pressing the matter of having the body of General Thomas L. Clingham finally interred at Asheville, in Buncombe county, which he loved so well.

The people of this city are greatly pleased that Rev. Robert Strange decides to remain at Wilmington. He was for several years rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd here and is greatly beloved.

Some movement of moment is on the tapis among the populists. It may occur this week. Much secrecy is observed. It has something to do with the meeting of the populist state committee, which is soon to be held, or rather forced to be held.

The state fair authorities in reply to criticisms upon the fact that big farmers get the prizes say that if they depended upon the small farmers they would hardly get a wagon load of exhibits; that they offered the special $100 prize to induce the big farmers to compete such as Vanderbilt, Carr, Wolf and Bagwell. They say further that every farmer who made an entry for department A took a premium.

Dr. George W. Blackall is very sick at his home here. His illness began with an attack of vertigo.

The news of the discovery of a very rich bed of pebble phosphate on the penitentiary land at Castle Haynes is interesting. There are phosphate deposits in nine counties and it is strange that they are not much more extensively worked, as they are the most northerly of the beds.

BASE BALL MATTERS

The National League in Session—Rules for Drafting From Minor Leagues Amended. Deals Between the Clubs.

Philadelphia, November 9.—The annual meeting of the National Base Ball League was opened at the Hotel Walton today. Among the notable arrivals this morning were Manager Adrian C. Anson, of Chicago; Chris von der Ahe, of St. Louis, and George and Earl Wagner of Washington.

The official programme of the National League gathering moved rather slowly today, but the rumors of deals grew thicker and thicker as the day and night progressed.

The board of directors of the league convened shortly after 12 o'clock and disposed of a few rather unimportant appeals from players who had grievances, the points of the appeals in each instance being summarily disallowed and dismissed.

President Young was authorized to establish an office in the business section of Washington for the transaction of the league business and the Boston club was officially awarded the championship of 1897.

The national board of arbitration then got together to dispose of matters unfinished at last night's session. The most important subject before the board was the petition of the class A leagues for a modification of the drafting clauses of the national agreement. The petition as presented met with no opposition in the board, and it was decided that its provisions should be recommended to the National League for adoption. The suggested change in the rules of drafting which will without doubt be endorsed by the league provides that no player can be drafted by the National League unless he shall have served at least two years in the class A league from which the draft is desired to be made. Class A consists of the Eastern, the Western and the Atlantic Leagues.

Asked by the minor leagues in the drafting price, which will therefore remain at $500. The change in the drafting rule does not prevent the purchase of any minor league player by a National League club through mutual agreement of the clubs interested, and transfers from the minor to the major league through purchase or trades can at any time be made as heretofore. On suggestion of John T. Brush, an amendment to the drafting clause was also raised to the league for approval which grants permission to the National League clubs to loan a player to a minor club with the understanding that the player can be recalled on thirty days' notice.

The Philadelphia club is endeavoring to effect a deal with St. Louis, by which Monte Cross, Catcher Douglass and Pitcher Donohue can be brought to Philadelphia. It is said Von der Ahe has been offered Taylor, Clements, Nash and Lave Cross for the three players named or any three of them for Monte Cross and Douglass.

The business of the auxiliary, the board of arbitration and the board of directors of the National League called to order for its first session at 9 o'clock tonight, with representatives present from all the twelve clubs. In keeping with the slow work of the day, the meeting lasted less than an hour, and no business whatever was transacted.

Action for Receivership of the Southern Railroad

Macon, Ga., November 9.—The hearing of the petition of the Dunlap Hardware Company and others against the Southern railway, on application for a receivership, will take place before Judge Emery Speer, in this city tomorrow. The petition alleges that the Southern Railway Company, by its ownership and control of the Central railway, the Southwestern railway, and the Georgia Southern and Florida, is acting in direct conflict with the constitution of the state of Georgia, which prohibits the control of one railroad by another for the purpose of stifling competition. The charge is made that Macon's business is seriously impeded by this ownership of the Southern. The petition asks that the Southern railway be perpetually enjoined from the control of these roads and that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the stock owned by the Southern railway in the competing lines. Ex-Senator George F. Edmunds, of Vermont, is counsel for the Southern railway Company.

Attempted Murder and Suicide

Philadelphia, November 9.—Charles Gerbach, a cigar manufacturer on Norris street near Fourth, today attempted to kill his father-in-law, Frederick Fritz and the latter's son, Joseph, by shooting them. He then sent a bullet through his own brain and died soon after being admitted to the Episcopal hospital. Fritz and his son are beer bottlers and are said to be wealthy. The shooting occurred in Fritz's home and is said to have been due to some dispute over business. The older Fritz was but slightly wounded, and his son, while severely, was not dangerously wounded.

MILITARY INSPECTIONS

The Inspector General of the North Carolina State Guard Holds the Annual Inspection of the Wilmington Light Infantry, the Naval Reserves and the Boys' Brigade.

Colonel B. S. Royster, of Oxford, inspector general of the North Carolina State Guard, arrived here last evening, and is a guest of The Orton. The object of his visit to our city was to hold the annual inspection of the Wilmington Light Infantry and Wilmington Division, North Carolina Naval Battalion.

Last night at 8:30 o'clock Colonel Royster inspected the Wilmington Light Infantry on the grounds at their handsome armory on Market street. Fifty-two men, all of the company save two, who are absent from the city, reported for inspection. Captain Don MacRae was in command and the company was inspected in heavy marching order—full dress uniforms, grey chapeaux, knapsacks and guns.

The inspection was a very fine one and quite a number of ladies and friends of the company were out to witness it. Colonel Royster highly complimented the company, and stated that the guns were in the best condition he had seen anywhere in the state. The inspector general also inspected the armory and pronounced the steel cage for the protection of the guns a most excellent idea.

While the Light Infantry was preparing for the inspection, Colonel Taylor's boys' brigade marched into the campus, and after the inspection of the former company the boys were inspected. They were in full dress uniform, blue coats and white pants, and carried guns. Lieutenants Ed. Dudley and Joe Loughlin were in command and the little fellows made a splendid appearance. Colonel Royster heartily congratulated them upon their bearing, and said it was the finest he had ever witnessed. They passed a number one inspection.

Colonel Royster then came down town, and at 9 o'clock p. m. inspected the Naval Reserves in front of the city hall. They were under command of Lieutenant H. H. McIlhenny, and forty-five men were present, all being there except three men who are on the sick list. They were inspected in artillery drill, the platoon being divided into sections, Lieutenant R. H. McKoy commanding the first section, and Ensign H. L. Miller commanding the second. The inspection was bang-up, and Colonel Royster highly commended the Division as a fine body of men, and complimented their drilling in high terms. He afterwards inspected their armory and their library, consisting of about 600 volumes, valued at about $200. This was something new to Colonel Royster, and he was much pleased with it.

At 11 o'clock the Wilmington Light Infantry gave Colonel Royster a reception at their armory, Colonel John F. Bruton, of Wilson, commanding the Second regiment, North Carolina State Guard, was invited as a special guest on the occasion, but he was prevented from coming on account of professional engagements. When Colonel Royster and a party of gentlemen arrived at the armory, the company was in the assembly hall, having a fine time of it. They had called on their old captain and veteran comrade, Colonel John L. Cantwell, for a speech, and he responded briefly, speaking of the past deeds of the old corps and inspiring the company to a like noble record for the future.

Danger in Delay

It is one of the absolute impossibilities of the world to cure the roots by lopping off the leaves. Those who treat Catarrh with sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures, should know that these remedies reach only the surface, and can never cure them. Catarrh invariably leads to Consumption, and to delay the proper treatment is to invite this dreaded disease.

Catarrh

comes from diseased blood. Sprays and washes won't cure it, because they do not reach the roots of the trouble. There is no use experimenting with the abominable disease called Catarrh. There is no use losing time.

If you want to get well again, take Swift's Specific (S.S.S.) right away. It goes down to the bottom—down to the roots—down to the foundation of all blood disorders, completely curing Catarrh, Cancer, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, Rheumatism and Eczema.

Send for full particulars about the curing of all Blood troubles to the SWIFT SPECIFIC Co., Atlanta, Ga.

The reception was held in the assembly hall. Colonel Royster stood on the dais in one end of the hall, and receiving with him were Lieutenant Colonel Walker Taylor, of the Second regiment, North Carolina State Guard, Captain Don MacRae and Lieutenant R. H. Cowan, of the Wilmington Light Infantry, and Lieutenant H. H. McIlhenny, Lieutenant R. H. McKoy, junior grade, and Ensign Hugh L. Miller, of the Naval Reserves. The company filed past and shook hands with the officers, and after passing out through the hall, reassembled in front of the officers. When the reception was over, Captain MacRae called on the inspector general for a speech, and the company joined enthusiastically in the call. Colonel Royster responded in a few happy remarks in which he alluded, among other things, to the glorious record of the company, and complimented them upon their soldierly appearance and fine deportment in the inspection. He also complimented the reserves, and said the state of North Carolina had reason to be proud of the military of New Hanover county. He also alluded pleasantly to the presence of Colonel John L. Cantwell, the veteran member of the company and a veteran of two wars.

Colonel Walker Taylor was called on by Colonel Royster, with the company joining in enthusiastically, and after he had made a few remarks, the officers and men repaired to the captain's room and the company's reading room, where punch, sandwiches and cigars were enjoyed. Captain MacRae offered a toast to the guest of the evening, the inspector general, and subsequently Colonel Royster, Colonel Cantwell, Colonel Taylor, Lieutenant McIlhenny, Lieutenant McKoy and Ensign Miller responded to toasts. Mr. C. H. Robinson, responded to a toast to the corps, and Colonel Taylor offered a toast to Colonel Bruton, who had been expected as a guest.

Colonel Royster leaves this morning for Clinton to inspect the Sampson Light Infantry.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED

The Safe at Mocksville Blown Open.—The Burglars Escape on a Hand Car After Cutting the Telegraph Wires.

Raleigh, N. C., November 9.—The safe in the Mocksville postoffice was blown open last night and robbed of $300, half the amount being in money and the other half in stamps. The safe was a complete wreck. The robbers failed to get the registered letters, which were found this morning badly scorched by powder.

After committing the robbery, the parties stole the section masters' lever car on the Mocksville railroad and rode it out near the Davis school, just west of Winston. It was found this morning lying near the railroad track.

The safe blowers cut the telegraph wire in two places to prevent any message being sent out after them.

Yesterday's Yellow Fever Report

New Orleans, November 9.—Yellow fever continues on the decrease, as today's record indicates, and the board of health is elated over the prospects of an early termination of the scare which has so badly crippled commerce. Matters have been very quiet in and about the board of health offices for several days past. The working forces have been reduced to a minimum and there is an abundance of work for those retained. The business situation continues to brighten. There were reported six new cases and four deaths. Mobile, Ala., November 9.—The report for today shows a slight increase in the number of new cases, the result of the unusually warm weather experienced since the 4th of the month. The list of recoveries is large and it has been for the past three days. The new cases today number six and the deaths two.

The report from Whistler is that there are sixteen new cases there.
